

STANFORD UNIVERSITY

Individuals with Autism Spectrum Disorders or Other Learning Disabilities Needed for Research Study

Researchers at Stanford University are currently recruiting individuals with autism spectrum disorders or other learning disabilities to participate in a research study about the role of hormones in these disorders.

In order to participate in this research study you or your child must:

- * Be diagnosed with autism spectrum disorder or other learning disability*
- * Be between the ages of 18 months and 99 years*
- * Be willing to provide a blood sample, and be willing to undergo lumbar puncture to provide a spinal fluid sample*
- * Be willing to participate in behavioral and cognitive testing*

After being screened, you will receive:

- $25 upon completion of the LP and blood draw
- $50 upon completion of behavioral assessments/questionnaires

You will also receive generalized results regarding your or your child's cognitive and behavioral assessments.

For more information, call (650) 736-1235.

Lucile Packard Children's Hospital

STANFORD UNIVERSITY MEDICAL CENTER

For general information about participant rights, contact 1-866-680-2906.