

Community Child/Adolescent & Adult Psychiatrist

Clinical Assistant, Clinical Associate Professor, or Clinical Professor
Division of Public Health and Population Sciences
Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences
Stanford University School of Medicine

The Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences at the Stanford University School of Medicine is seeking a half-time (50% time) faculty member to provide clinical care and teaching in child/adolescent and young adult psychiatry in new community-based integrated care allcove sites in both Palo Alto and San Jose. allcove was inspired by the headspace model, developed in Australia, and the Foundry model, developed in British Columbia, which create stand-alone, integrated care sites for young people ages 12-25 to access early mental health supports, along with school support and web-based connectivity. These programs improve young people's mental, social, and emotional wellbeing through the provision of high quality, integrated, age-appropriate care for teenagers, young adults, and their families who are facing early life challenges – whether they are issues like relationship breakups, bullying, sexual orientation, depression, anxiety, or other mild-moderate health conditions. allcove, the very first US implementation of the model, approaches youth wellness in a comprehensive and youth-friendly way, reaching them in clinical sites, online, and in schools.

Physician applicants must have a medical degree or equivalent degree, completed training in Child/Adolescent & General Psychiatry, be board-certified or board-eligible in Child/Adolescent and General Psychiatry, and possess or be fully eligible for a California medical license. Rank and salary will be commensurate with experience.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching and clinical missions.
