The Division of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry at Stanford University is seeking a full-time faculty member in the Clinician Educator line to provide clinical care and teaching on our inpatient program. Rank and salary will be commensurate with experience. Elective research time may be available, and involvement in clinical research projects is encouraged. Lucile Packard Children's Hospital at Stanford provides exposure to a wide range of scholarly and community outreach activities including campus-wide research and clinical working groups, as well as parent education and support activities.

Eligible physician candidates must have a medical degree or equivalent degree, completed training in General Psychiatry and subspecialty training in Child and Adolescent Psychiatry, be board certified or board eligibility in General Psychiatry at the time of employment, and possess or be fully eligible for a California medical license.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research, teaching and clinical missions.

Interested candidates should send a cover letter and current curriculum vitae via e-mail to:
