

Stanford faculty and SMART

Funding opportunities in Maternal or Child Health*

Stanford Maternal and Child Health Research Institute Faculty Scholar Program

AWARD

MCHRI Faculty Scholar Awards support mid to late Assistant, or early Associate Professor* appointed as Non-Tenure Line, Research (NTLR), University Tenure Line (UTL) or Medical Center Line (MCL) Faculty as follows:

- $100,000 per year for up to 5 years;
- Use the resources first for their remuneration and benefits and second to support research costs such that there shall be demonstrable, significant and meritorious scholarship/research activities related to innovation in maternal or child health.

* Early Associate Professor is defined as “within the first three years or the first term”

LETTER OF INTENT (LOI) DEADLINE: Monday, March 2, 2020 @ 5:00 pm

*Submit your letter of intent (LOI) with biosketch and other support page submitted as one pdf to the following link: ONLINE APPLICATION LINK, per the application instructions. You do not need to submit your LOI via your RPM.

MCL applicants should only apply for either the Harman or Faculty Scholar RFA, not both. If applicant applies for both mechanisms, their application may not be accepted

Complete letter of intent guidelines here.

GENERAL ELIGIBILITY

To be eligible for the award, the applicant must meet these criteria:

- Hold a NTLR, UTL or MCL faculty appointment within the University
- Be a member of MCHRI. Visit here to apply for MCHRI Membership.
- Have a track record of focusing the majority of their research on maternal or child health.
- Has not previously held a MCHRI Harman or Faculty Scholar award.
- Applicants should review the full policy document posted on the program website for complete eligibility criteria.

FULL PROPOSAL (by invitation) DEADLINE: Monday, May 18, 2020 @ 5:00 pm

Notification of selected LOIs will be in late March 2020.

Earliest project start date is September 1, 2020. Project start date no later than December 1, 2020. Awards will be announced in July 2020.

NOMINATION

If invited to submit a full proposal, applicants will need to be nominated by the Clinical Department Chair* or Division Chief wherein they hold their primary Stanford University academic appointment. The Chair's nominating letter will:

- Confirm eligibility

- Enumerate the nominee's current time commitment to clinical, education, research, and administration, and the time commitment to these activities if named a MCHRI Faculty Scholar.

*If the Chair serves on the Faculty & Harman Scholar adjudication committee \(MCHRI Executive Committee\), the applicant will be nominated by their Division Chief.

APPOINTMENT

Unless specified by the philanthropic gift agreement, the endowment for a MCHRI Faculty Scholar does not "belong" to any specific Department or Division, but instead rests within the MCHRI and is used in a manner that optimizes the use of these resources for innovation in maternal and child health.

CONTACT

Questions please email mchri_admin@stanford.edu or call 724-0279.