MCCPOP 38th Annual Perinatal Potpourri 2018: Advances in Care

March 22-23, 2018
Monterey Plaza Hotel and Spa
Monterey, CA

Presented by the Department of Pediatrics and the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the Stanford University School of Medicine and The Charles B. and Ann L. Johnson Center for Pregnancy and Newborn Services, Lucile Packard Children’s Hospital Stanford in collaboration with MCCPOP.

Sponsored by the Stanford University School of Medicine

A Continuing Medical Education Activity
Statement of Need
This course will provide current up-to-date clinical advances in maternal, fetal and neonatal medicine. The faculty will present a variety of topics in lectures, panels and cases that will include topics on: prevention of prematurity, update in fetal medicine, congenital renal disease in neonates, marijuana use effect on pregnancy and lactation, sepsis in the newborn and medico-legal issues in perinatology.

Learning Objectives:
At the conclusion of this activity, learners will be able to:
• Manage the pregnant patient’s care to diminish risks for preterm birth considering such risks as prior preterm birth, short cervical length and history of cervical surgery.
• Counsel the pregnant and/or lactating patient on the risks of marijuana use.
• Assess the neonate for indications of congenital renal disease.
• Diagnose and manage the neonate with early-onset sepsis using best practice and current evidence-based guidelines.
• Integrate ethical practice and current law in perinatology into the care of pregnant and neonatal patients.

Target Audience
This is a regional program, designed for:
• pediatricians
• obstetricians
• neonatologists
• hospitalists
• family practice physicians
• certified nurse midwives
• nurse practitioners
• nurses
• allied health professionals
