

Dave Faldmo, PA-C, MPAS

Quality Director/Medical Director

Siouxland Community Health Center – Sioux City, Iowa

David Faldmo has been working at the Siouxland Community Health Center in Sioux City, Iowa, since 1992. He is passionate about the mission of community health centers and serving the underserved. As Quality Director, he enjoys working with others to improve clinical outcomes and in process improvement efforts.

In 2011, he completed the Community Health Center Executive Fellowship through the University of Kansas Medical Center. He loves attending Institute of Healthcare Improvement conferences and completed the University of Michigan's LEAN Healthcare training course.

He is the clinician representative to INConcertCare board of directors, the Iowa PCA's Health Center Controlled Network, and is active on the clinical content subcommittee with the Alliance of Chicago. He very involved with NACHC's PRAPARE project, a national effort to help health centers and other providers collect the data needed to better understand and act on their patients' social determinants of health. He is a board member for Growing Community Connections, a local organization that assists community partners to work together and serves on an advisory committee for the Norm Waitt Sr. YMCA. He was instrumental in the Siouxland Community Health exploring innovative models of care including shared medical appointments for patients with diabetes and starting an endocrinology Project ECHO program in collaboration with the University of Nebraska Medical Center.

He obtained his Master of Physician Assistant Studies from the University of Iowa in 1992, Bachelor of Science from Morningside College in 1990, and Associates of Arts from Dixie College in 1987. From 1984-1986, he lived in Samoa serving a church mission.

He was born and raised in Utah, but has lived in the Midwest since 1987. He has been happily married to his wife Robin for 32 years and they have 5 children. His hobbies include coaching his children's youth basketball teams and watching and attending BYU sporting events.