STANFORD PIVOTAL RESPONSE TRAINING (PRT) EDUCATIONAL WORKSHOP
4-DAY COURSE FOR PROFESSIONALS
April 26, 27, 28, 29, 2019

For professionals who work with young children with autism spectrum disorders.

This workshop is designed to provide professionals with education and training on PRT components.

The following general areas will be addressed:

- How to implement the PRT motivational components
- Improving socialization in children with ASD
- Expanding the functions of communication through question-asking
- Understanding Fidelity of Implementation
- Procedures for decreasing disruptive or problem behaviors

This 4-day workshop is designed to teach professionals how to correctly implement the motivational components of PRT.

Lectures will be given the first day and videos will be reviewed. During the second and third days each professional will have an opportunity to work with children for hands-on training and feedback during a two-hour session. Professionals will also view other attendees working with children.

Prior to attending: Send three 10-minute clips of yourself and a child engaged in three different activities for review and preparation for the on-site workshop. Please make sure you have permission from the parent whose child with whom you are working.

DAY 1, 9:30-2:30: Lectures and view video clip. Learn about PRT basics and review clips of participants.

Day 2 & 3, 10:00-12:00 and 1:00-3:00: review of interactions between professionals and children with autism. Direct feedback will be provided.

Day 4, 9:30-12:30: Lecture, summarize program, informal discussion

1-month following attendance: Send three 10-minute clips of a child for scoring and feedback related to PRT motivational components.
