

Faculty Scholars Program -Internal Stanford funding opportunity in Maternal and Child Health*

Stanford Maternal and Child Health Research Institute Faculty Scholars Program

The Stanford Maternal and Child Health Research Institute (MCHRI) Faculty Scholars Endowments aim to support faculty with established research programs dedicated to maternal or child health research.

AWARD

MCHRI Faculty Scholar Awards support mid to late Assistant*, or early Associate Professor appointed as Non-Tenure Line, Research (NTRL), University Tenure Line (UTL) or University Medical Line (UML) Faculty as follows:

- $100,000 per year for up to 5 years;
- The funds should be used primarily to support the PI's salary and benefits, and secondarily to support research expenses.

* Mid to late Assistant is defined as "within the second term."

Early Associate Professor is defined as "within the first three years or the first term."

KEY DATES

LETTER OF INTENT

DEADLINE: Tuesday, February 20, 2024 @ 11:59 PM PT (no late applications will be accepted)

Submit your letter of intent (LOI) with biosketch and other support (active, pending, and prior funding) as a single pdf to the following link: ONLINE APPLICATION LINK, per the application instructions.

UML applicants should only apply for either the Harman or Faculty Scholar Award, not both. If an applicant applies for both mechanisms, their application may not be accepted.

Complete letter of intent guidelines here.

Applicants will be notified about the results of the LOI review by early April, with selected applicants invited to proceed with a full proposal.

GENERAL ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

To be eligible for the award, the applicant must meet these criteria:

- Hold a Non-Tenure Line (Research) [NTRL], University Tenure Line (UTL) or University Medical Line (UML) faculty appointment
- Be a member of MCHRI. Visit here to apply for MCHRI Membership.
- Have a track record of focusing the majority of their research uniquely on maternal or child health.
- Applicants must not have previously received or currently hold a Stanford-owned Faculty Scholar award or an MCHRI Harman or MCHRI Faculty Scholar Award.

Selection Criteria:

- Individuals at a critical juncture in their academic career where the Faculty Scholar award will help secure or bridge extramural funding will be prioritized.

- Significant maternal and child health impact.
- Potential translational impact.
- Track record in securing extramural funding.
 - The adjudication committee will take into consideration current funding and any grants, e.g. R21, R01 or equivalent (DP2) under development or review.
 - If awarded by MCHRI, the duration and award amount may be modified depending on the PI's current funding.

FULL PROPOSAL (by invitation)

DEADLINE: Tuesday, May 28, 2024 @ 11:59 PM PT (no late applications will be accepted)

Awards will be announced in July 2024. The award start date is September 1, 2024.

NOMINATION

If invited to submit a full proposal, the Chair (or Division Chief^{}) of the applicant's primary department must submit a letter of nomination that:

- Confirms eligibility
- Enumerates the nominee's current effort committed to clinical, education, research, and administration, and the time committed to these activities with receipt of a MCHRI Faculty Scholar award.
- Provides attestation that the department will fund the capital facilities fund (CFF) obligation.

^{}If the Chair serves on the Faculty & Harman Scholar adjudication committee \(MCHRI Executive Committee\), the nomination letter will be submitted by the applicant's Division Chief.

Questions? Contact:

MCHRI Administration at mchri_admin@stanford.edu
650-724-0279

Institutional representative: Not applicable. These programs are internal Stanford funding opportunities. Please do not submit your proposal through your institutional official for approval. You may submit your proposal directly to MCHRI via their online application link. PI Waivers are not required.