

Demographics Report on Current Trainees
as of January 1, 2015

Introduction

Welcome! You are well on your way on a new journey as a resident or fellow at the Stanford Hospital. We, at Graduate Medical Education (GME), want to provide you with all the information on the housing of current house staff so you can make an informed decision.

Information provided here is compiled from our MedHub database on January 1, 2015. We've aggregated all the zip codes where 979 of our current trainees reside to help you decide the city and housing cost fits your needs and budget.

After viewing this data, please check out the GME website on housing. If you any further questions, suggestions or concerns, email us at gme@med.stanford.edu.

Top 13 Cities Our Current Trainees Call Home

979 trainees (residents and fellows) out of 997 were sampled to identify the top 13 cities our trainees call home during their training. Cities with a commute time greater than 60 minutes were removed.

Methods

A MedHub report was generated to gather the city of residence of residents and fellows during their training at Stanford Hospital. Both resident and fellow were combined and named as trainees. Some data points were removed due to unrealistic travel time to Stanford Hospital (i.e. 1+ hours driving commute). The top 13 cities were narrowed down by selecting cities with less than 10 trainees into the Other category and 10 or more into the respective city. These data criteria were applied to the program-specific graphs.
