

SPONSORED BY
THE GUSTAVUS AND LOUISE PFEIFFER RESEARCH FOUNDATION AND
CENTER OF EXCELLENCE IN DIVERSITY IN MEDICAL EDUCATION

Pfeiffer Visiting Scholar Winter Lecture

Dayna Bowen Matthew, JD
William L. Matheson and
Robert M. Morgenthau Distinguished Professor of Law

F. Palmer Weber Research Professor of Civil Liberties and Human Rights
University of Virginia Law School

Thursday
March 1, 2018
5:45 pm to 7:00 pm

LKSC-LK120

Open to the public

“Just Medicine: It Will Take More Than Just Medicine”

Dayna Bowen Matthew, J.D. is the William L. Matheson and Robert M. Morgenthau Distinguished Professor of Law and the F. Palmer Weber Research Professor of Civil Liberties and Human Rights at the University of Virginia School of Law. She grew up in the South Bronx and received her JD from the University of Virginia School of Law.

Professor Matthew is a published expert in law and policy related to health care, public health, race, and equal protection. She is the author of the book titled “Just Medicine- A Cure for Racial Inequality in American Health Care” and numerous articles on healthcare, public health, and antitrust law topics that have appeared in the Virginia Law Review, the Georgetown Journal of Law and Modern Critical Race Perspectives, and the American Journal of Law and Medicine. Professor Matthew is currently a non-resident senior fellow for the Brookings Institution, and a visiting health policy fellow at the Congressional Black Caucus Foundation.

In celebration of Black History Month please join us for Professor Matthew’s presentation related to unconscious racial and ethnic biases in our health care systems.

Please RSVP for the presentation at:

<https://pfeifferdaynamatthew.eventbrite.com>