The Division of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry at Stanford University is seeking a full-time faculty member in the Clinician Educator line to provide clinical care and teaching in our outpatient clinic in the eating disorders program. Rank and salary will be commensurate with experience. The chosen candidate will serve as an attending psychologist providing direct clinical care as well as supervision and didactics to psychology graduate students, and post doctoral psychology, and psychiatry fellows. Involvement in clinical research projects is available and highly encouraged. Stanford Medicine Children’s Health exposure to a wide range of scholarly activities, including campus-wide research working groups.

Eligible candidates must have a doctoral degree from an APA-accredited graduate program in clinical psychology, have completed an APA-accredited clinical psychology internship, and have at least one year of post-doctoral clinical training, as well as possess or be fully eligible for California licensure as a psychologist. Preference is for applicants who have completed the EPPP and are currently licensed. Applicants should have experience in evaluating and treating both children and adolescents with eating disorders from an evidence-based model.

The Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford also welcomes applications from others who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research, teaching and clinical missions.

The expected base pay range, based on rank, is as follows:
- Clinical Assistant Professors – $140,000-160,000
- Clinical Associate Professors – $178,000-198,000
- Clinical Professors – $230,000-270,000

Base pay is based on faculty rank and years in rank. It may not include all components of faculty compensation or pay from participation in departmental incentive compensation programs. For more information about compensation and our wide-range of benefits, including housing assistance, please contact the hiring department.

Stanford University has provided a pay range representing its good faith estimate of what the university reasonably expects to pay for the position. The pay offered to the selected candidate will be determined based on factors including (but not limited to) the experience and qualifications of the selected candidate including equivalent years in rank, training, and field or discipline; internal equity; and external market pay for comparable jobs.

Interested candidates should send a cover letter and current curriculum vitae via e-mail to:

James Lock, MD, PhD
c/o Elizabeth Archibald
Division of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry
Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences
Stanford University School of Medicine
401 Quarry Road
Stanford, CA 94305-5717
Phone: (650) 498-7376
Email:earchiba@stanford.edu