The Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences at the Stanford University School of Medicine is seeking a full-time faculty member in the Clinical Educator Faculty Line to provide clinical care for patients in our adult inpatient psychiatric service. Our inpatient program is comprised of three distinct services: a locked unit (primarily for individuals on a legal hold), an unlocked unit (for individuals at a high level of acuity, who are able to remain in the hospital voluntarily), and a geropsychiatry service (for individuals on both units who are 60+, and/or who are receiving electroconvulsive therapy). The patient population is highly diverse. Patients are 18 years of age and older. Many patients present with co-occurring medical diagnoses.

As a member of a multidisciplinary treatment team, this position entails the planning of patient treatment and identification of appropriate treatment outcomes, and consultation with patients’ outside mental health professionals. This faculty member will also participate in program development and clinical supervision of trainees. Direct clinical care duties entail group psychotherapy, individual therapy, diagnostic evaluation, and structured clinical interviewing. Opportunities for research and other teaching and mentoring opportunities are also available.

Applicants must have a doctoral degree in clinical psychology or equivalent degree, have completed an APA-accredited internship, possess or be fully eligible for licensure as a psychologist in California, and have experience providing psychological assessment and treatment for patients with severe mental illness in hospital settings, including involuntary psychiatric holds. Faculty rank will be determined by the qualifications and experience of the successful candidate.

The Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, School of Medicine, and Stanford University value faculty who are committed to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion. Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research, teaching and clinical missions.

Interested candidates should send a cover letter and current curriculum vitae to:
