Staff Psychiatrist – Mental Health Team
Clinical Assistant, Clinical Associate Professor, or Clinical Professor
Division of General Psychiatry and Psychology
Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences
Stanford University School of Medicine

Stanford University, a private research and teaching institution with over 16,500 undergraduate and graduate students, seeks an experienced candidate for the position of Staff Psychiatrist for the School of Medicine Mental Health Team through Stanford’s Counseling and Psychological Services, the student mental health unit of Vaden Health Center. The position will be in the Clinician Educator line under the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, Stanford University School of Medicine.

Stanford Medicine is fully accredited by the LCME and supports the University’s academic mission. The position will be part of a new Mental Health Team within the School of Medicine and will provide comprehensive mental health services and programs to a diverse student body of the School of Medicine. The Mental Health Team will be located at the School of Medicine but will be connected to an experienced multidisciplinary staff of psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, and marriage and family therapists at Counseling and Psychological Services.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

This is a .50 FTE position with the School of Medicine Mental Health Team at Stanford University. Primary clinical duties include conducting intake evaluations, medication evaluations and medication management, brief psychotherapy and generally responding to the mental health needs of the Medical, Biosciences Graduate and MSPA students. Hours will include weekdays and some evening coverage may be necessary. Additional job duties include faculty, student and staff training; leadership of MHT; reviewing student satisfaction surveys; and liaison meetings.

QUALIFICATIONS:

The ideal candidate would be a CA Licensed psychiatrist who is Board Certified in Adult Psychiatry and/or Child/Adolescent Psychiatry. The candidate should have excellent skills in clinical evaluation, psychopharmacology, crisis intervention, brief psychotherapy, knowledge of adolescent and young adult development, and have worked with a diverse student population.

The Psychiatrist must demonstrate skills in consultative work with professional colleagues and other staff, in addition to strong computer, written and oral communication skills. Desirable qualifications include experience with teaching and supervision.

Rank and salary will be commensurate with experience.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research, teaching and clinical missions.

Interested candidates should send a cover letter and current curriculum vitae to Dr. Chris Hayward (hayward@stanford.edu).
