SLEEP MEDICINE
ASSISTANT or ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR in the CLINICIAN EDUCATOR FACULTY LINE

The Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, Division of Sleep Medicine, at Stanford University School of Medicine is seeking a new full-time faculty member at the rank of Clinical Assistant Professor or Clinical Associate Professor to conduct clinical care and teaching in sleep medicine. The position will be based at the Stanford Sleep Medicine Center in Redwood City.

The chosen candidate will provide clinical care in the outpatient Sleep Clinic. Teaching responsibilities will be fulfilled as part of the regular clinical activities, and include supervision and didactics to sleep medicine fellows, medical students, residents, fellows and other trainees.

Applicants must have a medical degree, must have completed training in Pediatric Pulmonary Medicine, be Board Certified in Sleep Medicine, and must possess or be eligible for a California medical license.

Salary (exclusive of incentives and bonuses) will range from $228,000-240,000 for Clinical Assistant Professors and $254,000 to $266,000 for Clinical Associate Professors. This pay range reflects base pay and does not include all components of faculty compensation or pay from participation in departmental incentive compensation programs. Stanford University has provided a pay range representing its good faith estimate of what the university reasonably expects to pay for the position. The pay offered to the selected candidate will be determined based on factors, such as (but not limited to) the experience and qualifications of the selected candidate, including equivalent years in rank, training, and field or discipline; internal equity; and external market pay for comparable jobs. Please contact our department for more information about faculty compensation and the wide range of benefits available, including housing purchase programs.

The Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, School of Medicine, and Stanford University value faculty who are committed to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion. Candidates may optionally include as part of their application materials a brief discussion of how their work will further these ideals.

Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University’s research, teaching and clinical missions.

Stanford University is an equal opportunity employer and is committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty. It welcomes nominations of and applications from women, members of minority groups, protected veterans and individuals with disabilities, as well as from others who would bring additional dimensions to the university’s research, teaching and clinical missions. Interested candidates should send their curriculum vitae, a candidate’s statement outlining their experience and interests, a list of at least three individuals who could provide references, and a cover letter via email to:

Clete A. Kushida, MD, PhD; Division of Sleep Medicine; Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences; c/o Jazmine Qutob; Email: jqutob1@stanford.edu