Clinical Psychologist – Psychosomatic Medicine

Clinical Assistant, Clinical Associate Professor, or Clinical Professor
Division of Medical Psychiatry
Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences
Stanford University School of Medicine

The Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences at the Stanford University School of Medicine is seeking a full-time faculty member in the Clinical Educator Line to provide specialty psychological evaluation and treatment for patients in our Psychosomatic Medicine Service, in addition to teaching and supervision of psychiatry residents and fellows within our department's psychosomatic medicine program.

Faculty rank will be determined by the qualifications and experience of the successful candidate.

Applicants must have a doctoral degree in psychology or equivalent degree, have completed an APA-accredited internship, possess or be fully eligible for licensure as a psychologist in California, and have experience providing psychologist assessment and treatment to patients with cancer or cancer-related conditions.

The Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, School of Medicine, and Stanford University value faculty who are committed to advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion. Stanford is an equal employment opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. Stanford welcomes applications from all who would bring additional dimensions to the University's research, teaching, and clinical missions.

Interested candidates should send a cover letter and current curriculum vitae to:
